Reference to 13-86

Dear FCC,

I would implore you not to pass 13-86 and to allow even more inappropriate content on network television. In my opinion there is already far more bad content as it is, we certainly do not need more. Television has a powerful impact on our culture and especially our youth and while I would agree it is a parent's responsibility to monitor what is being watched, why do you wish to make it even more difficult? If ratings are being cited by the broadcasters as to why they need looser restrictions, do you really think they will improve by adding more adult content? The motion picture industry is finally beginning to understand that the more sexual, violent, and profane their content is the less money they make overall. There are only a few network shows I watch now with the current restrictions, if more adult content is allowed then network TV may go out the door completely. Isn't interesting that the movies and TV programs of the past that are now considered to be "classics" and "essentials" for the large part did not contain even the content that is now allowed?

Please do not pass 13-86.

Thank you.
